

These notes are for use together with the Colley Model.

18. Symptoms so far

The patient may or may not have symptoms indicative of any particular bladder dysfunction. We are now looking at the cause of incontinence being outside the bladder or exacerbated by factors outside the bladder, and due to the inability to respond appropriately to bladder signals.